

Event: War of 1812 Bicentennial Symposium

Date: February 25, 2012

Location: Rozanski Hall, University of Guelph, Guelph, Ontario

Description:

The 41st Regiment of Foot MLHG (www.fortyfirst.org) is thrilled to partner with the organizing committees of the London and Hamilton Living History Conferences to present the ultimate 2012 conference/symposium on the War of 1812.

We are also pleased to partner on this event with:

- University of Guelph, History Department <http://www.uoguelph.ca/history/>
- Guelph Museums <http://guelpharts.ca/guelphmuseums/>
- Wellington County Museum & Archives <http://www.wcm.on.ca/index.php>
- Guelph Historical Society <http://www.guelphhistoricalsociety.ca/>
- Company of Military Historians <http://www.military-historians.org/>

We will feature an opening keynote address, a closing keynote, four 1 hour rotations each offering symposium participants a choice of topics from exciting and interesting speakers and a vibrant historic merchants market. You can also expect a Friday evening welcoming reception and an optional dinner and Regency dance following the talks on Saturday.

The conference will offer War of 1812 thought leaders and scholars such as Rene Chartrand, Donald Graves, Robert Henderson and Jonathon Riley.
